

The Future of Private Capital in 2026

Institutional Intelligence Report

1/30/2026

Author: Anker Intelligence Analyst

Executive Summary

Market growth expected to continue at 15% CAGR

AI integration becomes the primary differentiator for top-tier firms

Sustainable investing reaches 40% of total AUM

Introduction

The private capital landscape is undergoing a significant transformation. As we move into 2026, several key trends are emerging that will define the next decade of investing.

Market Dynamics

- Global AUM is projected to reach $15 trillion by the end of the year.
- Secondary markets are providing much-needed liquidity in a high-interest-rate environment.
- Cross-border deals are increasing despite geopolitical tensions.

Technological Impact

AI is no longer just a buzzword; it's a fundamental tool for deal sourcing and due diligence. Firms that fail to integrate advanced analytics into their workflow are finding it increasingly difficult to compete for high-quality deals.

Conclusion

The outlook remains positive for those who can adapt to the new digital reality of private capital markets.

Bibliography

Anker Research Institute. (2025). Global Private Capital Report 2025. Anker Publications.

Source: <https://an-ker.de/reports/global-2025>